CONCRETE BATCHING PLANTS

FEATURES

Velox Compact batching plants are the portable batching plant used for the production of concrete required for small-scale construction projects. Compact plants can be mounted on a fixed place as well as being smaller in size and portable compared to mobile concrete batching plants.

Velox Compact plants need less area compared to stationary concrete batching plants and they can easily be transported

Velox Compact plants have high production capacity despite their small size.
